Her life began 25 years ago in Southern California. She lived in Orange County up until her freshman year of high school, then moved to San Diego. She experienced the usual things one does in life; joy, pain, laughter, tears, loss, growth, love, change; the list goes on. She overcame obstacles, making mistakes along the way and learning from her experiences. She loves musical theatre and art. Always had a camera in her hand. She lives to create.

She watched every season of America's Next Top Model and all of the Victoria's Secret Fashion Shows and always dreamt of becoming an angel. It wasn't until she was 20 that she stumbled upon an ad in Craigslist advertisement looking for a model to shoot. She was selected for the job and enjoyed the experience. She continued modeling, basically full time, from then on. Eventually, she bought herself a Canon DSLR and really loved being behind the lens, as well as, in front.

Men are a unique complicated species that some women can tame and others who can not. I like to see myself as a woman with the ability to make a man shift their point of view and want to be tamed. It may be the fact that I understand the way men function and think or it may be because I'm Latina. I guess you can choose.

I believe a woman is like a delicate flower that is constantly closed, protected within the walls she built from the rest of the world and only one special man who truly understands the way her brain is wired can see her naked spiritually and physically.

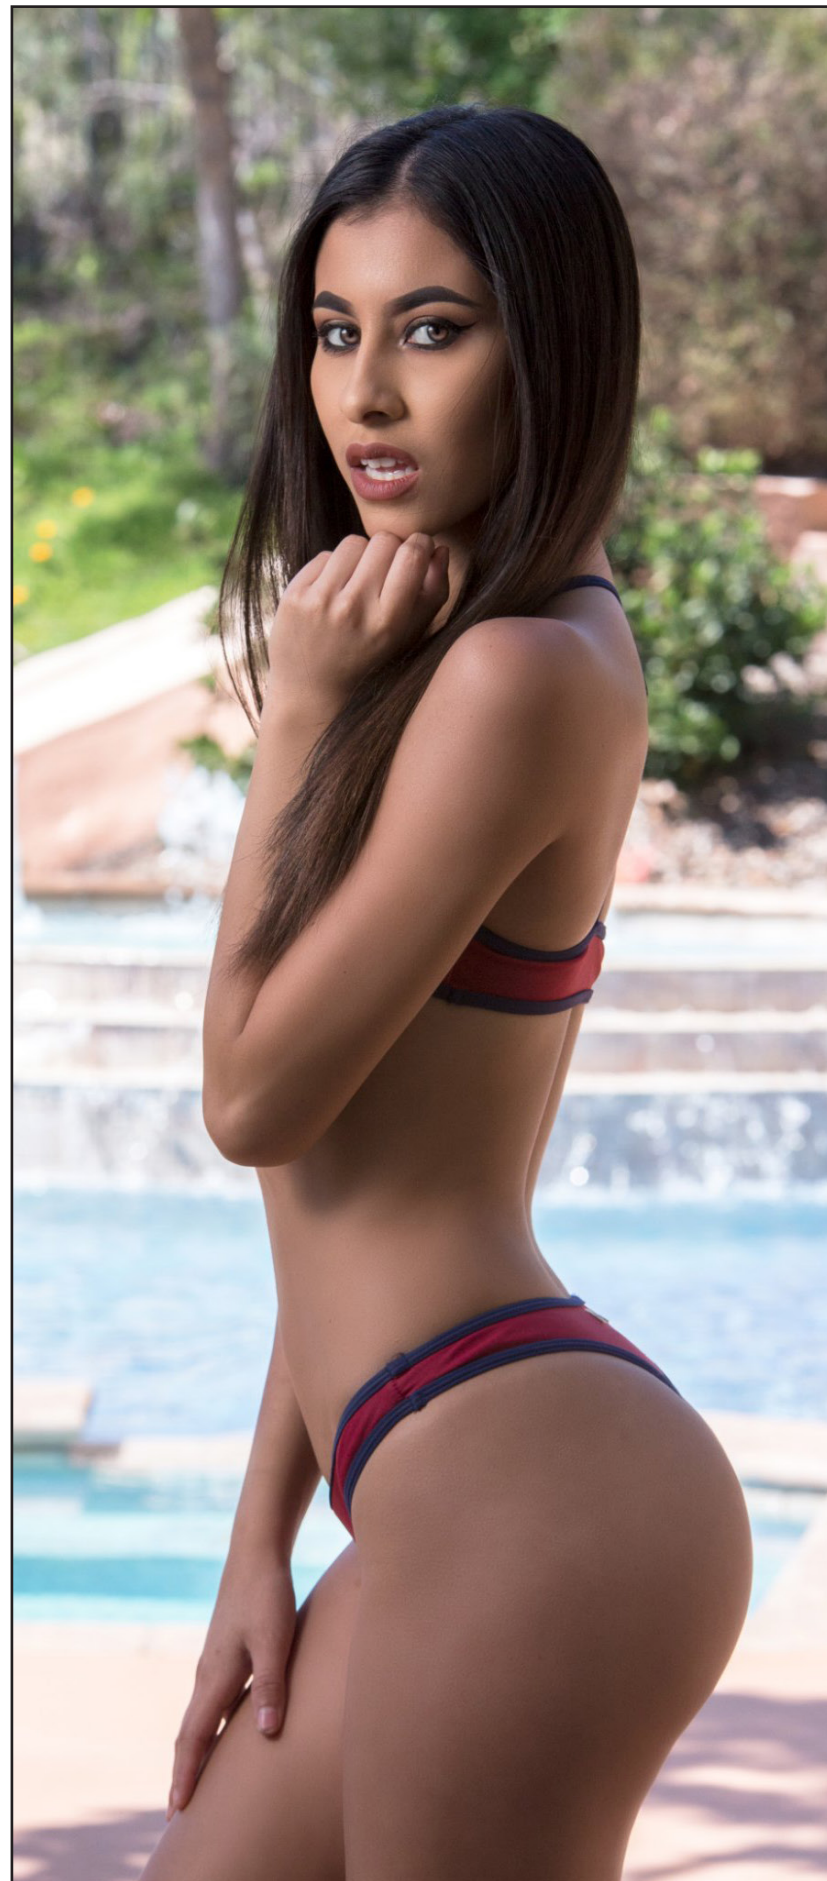

I personally need to feel some sort connection or spark between me and another person before I let them into my world and see what kind of inner bad girl I have within me. Once I feel that spark, things can get heated pretty quickly and can lead to very sexy things.

I'm a proud Latina which means my ethnicity roots from the beautiful exotic country of Mexico. Born and raised in the United States I learned to embrace both cultures and enjoy the best of both worlds from traditions, holidays, food, music and much more. I'll always feel confident and sexy in my Latin skin.

Being petite, I've always admired my height even though I stand as high as 5'3. I'm as tiny as they come. My booty and curves have always been my hottest assets although my other features like my lips, brown eyes and chocolate colored hair I've also come to love. Fitness is incredibly important to me so building tone and strength to my body helps keep me in shape and being able to look great in front of a camera.

I've never really thought of modeling to be something for me until I tried it for myself and realized I love it. I love how sexy I feel when I pose for my shots and being in control of the moment. When I see the photos, I couldn't be more satisfied with the final results. I definitely see modeling as a career I want to pursue. I want to see myself among other young, gorgeous, talented women who have the same desire as me.

As for hobbies, singing is one of my biggest passions. I self taught myself how to sing different harmonies, sing difficult notes and bring my voice out to the best of its ability. Modeling too. Sometimes, I like to strike some poses in the mirror and practice my serious modeling face which can be seen a lot in the majority of my photographs. I also entertain myself with television shows on Netflix that I obsessively binge watch because who doesn't get stuck on a really good series every now and then, right?

Rachel Gleaton is a professional commercial fashion and glamour model from Tampa, Florida. In spite of her infectious energy, gorgeous looks, unbeatable smile, and 6'0" height, Rachel Gleaton didn't always think she had a future in modeling. Like many young girls, a lack of confidence kept her out of the business, and even though she's wanted to model from a very young age, she wasn't sure the lifestyle was for her.

Today, Rachel loves being in front of a camera, and loves being on the cutting edge of glamour and fashion. Her drive and energy have helped earn her a reputation as a model who is easy and fun to work with, and who adds a new level of creativity to every shoot she's on.

As a younger model somewhat new to the business, Rachel is eager to expand her portfolio and be a part of as many events, photoshoots, and appearances as she can. She loves meeting others who share her passion for modeling and fashion, and she has been incredibly blessed to work with a steadily growing network of like-minded professionals who take this business seriously.

Since breaking into the industry, Rachel has been featured in dozens of shoots and has also appeared in many publications including the International Models Magazine.
